

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Silicified microcrystalline cellulose is used to provide a tablet with oral disintegration. The tablet contains at least 50% of the silicified microcrystalline cellulose and an effective amount of an active agent, especially a pharmaceutically active agent.